

THE PLAN

Everyone on The Grizzly Express staff has a responsibility to provide relevant and newsworthy items for distribution to our campus. Instead of limiting our staff to writing only one specific article each month, we are looking for a way for each staff member to work on a piece of news that inspires creativity and allows for a bit of flexibility and fun.

This plan is called the "Rule of 3."

Each staff member has three things that they are responsible for during the calendar month. It's what you will work on each day.

It's what will keep our program afloat. It's what your grades will be based on.

You are always welcome to do more than three options, but the minimum that each staff member must complete in order to earn an A each month is three.

Three are chosen each calendar month. You can keep the three you have if it's going well for you, but I encourage you to explore new things and to broaden your skill set.

Your options are listed to the right. Please note that your three choices are final and you are committing to it, regardless of your familiarity with the option. Some options may not be available if more than the required amount of staff members apply for it.
